Bond Laboratories, Inc. (OTCBB:BNLB), a leading manufacturer and marketer of proprietary health supplements and beverage products, today announced that its NDS Nutrition Products, Inc. (NDS) division will generate revenues of approximately $500,000 for the month of July through its retail distribution network; an increase of more than 31% over the $380,000 revenue from the same period last year.

NDS distributes its products through approximately 360 of the highest volume retail outlets in the largest specialty health and nutrition store chain in the U.S. Two of the Company's best products, Pump Fuel™ and Censor™, ranked in the top 20 of the 100 best selling products from March 18, 2009 through May 5, 2009, as announced by the chain. More impressive is that in their respective categories, Censor™, an essential fatty acid for weight loss, was the #1 diet and weight loss product and Pump Fuel™, a pre-workout sports nutrition supplement, was the #2 sports nutrition product.

“This is great evidence of the strong support we receive from our retail distribution network,” stated Ryan Zink, President of NDS. “Our goal this year is to increase the number of outlets distributing our products and to provide them with new cutting edge formulas and exclusive products.” Mr. Zink continued, “NDS currently has several innovative breakthrough formulas in final review which should continue to generate increasing revenue.”
